Publicity

On May 23, 1973, and June 4, 1973, the following articles appeared in the "Chicago Tribune" Town Ticker column, Chicago, Illinois, concerning FRANK SCHWEIHS and the Meat Block Steak House.

Bob Wiedrich

Gangster foiled in restaurant bid

CHICAGO MUSCLEMAN Frankie Schweis wants to be the architect of a Mafia renaissance in Old Town, but his kinky pals keep lousing him up.

Ordinarily, Schweis could have gotten away with building a new $100,000 restaurant called the Meat Block at 1311 N. Wells St. without anyone noticing the early gangland rococo influence in the decor.

But guys like accused mob executioner Anthony Spilotro, ex-convict Marshall Caifano, and Irwin Weiner, the underworld lackey turned plastic-pail manufacturing tycoon, kept hanging around.

SO IN NO time at all, word spread on the street that Schweis, a former bodyguard to the late triggerman Milwaukee Phil Alderisio, was going into business for himself.

And that caused a fuss in an area of fine restaurants, curio shops, and odd-ball exhibits that can well do without the taint of crime syndicate gangsters.

Now on the face of it, Schweis did not appear either as the owner or liquor-license applicant for the opulent new eatery. That was a fellow named Michael Pierpaoli, about whom no one knew much.

Schweis stayed in the background while Pierpaoli ran a joint with the same name a few doors away at 1321 N. Wells St., then appeared as the apparent operator of the new place then under construction.

All anyone could say with certainty about Pierpaoli was that he bunked in a room on the second floor of an aging building at the rear of 1321 N. Wells St., a floor below the pad occupied nightly by the often intemperate Schweis and his girl friend.

Meanwhile, the gangster's estranged wife, Sophie, was living with Schweis' mother, Nora, in a Riverside home once the property of the murderous Alderisio.

However, an observer of the construction scene could have no doubt Schweis was the boss.

Each day, Schweis would be on hand, waving his arms and shouting and giving orders that generally served only to confuse the workmen assembling the ornate brownstone bricks that would be the new Meat Block.

During the daylight hours, Schweis would often play a Jekyll and Hyde role.

One morning, his custom-built black and white Mercedes Benz would be parked on the property and Frankie would appear all spiffed up in mod togs and wet-look boots.

The next day, Schweis would be back on the scene, clad in knock-arounds and driving a pickup truck with auto dealer plates registered to a Southwest Side Dodge agency whose president is Larry Mack, a former Chicago policeman, who explains he "gave" Schweis the vehicle because they're old pals.

At other times, Schweis would supervise the hauling of materials to the construction site in trucks belonging to the Gaylur Mercantile Co., a salvage firm with which Alderisio, Weiner, and Spilotro had close ties over the years.

But the thing that really gave away Schweis' covert role in the new Meat Block restaurant was the repeated skull sessions he had with his gangster friends next door while construction was still underway, meetings that sometimes included the blundering loan shark, Joe [The Clown] Lombardo.

Thus, when the time came for Pierpaoli to apply for a liquor license for the soon-to-be-opened steak house, city officials turned him down.

And now Pierpaoli and Schweis are in a bind.

They've still got the old joint on their hands. That's open for business. But they'd like to sell or lease it, or so the sign says outside. The cash would come in handy for the new place.

BUT—THE new Meat Block can't open without a liquor license, unless customers are willing to swill soda pop with their sirloin. So right now, there's a padlock on the $100,000 edifice.

All of which leaves Schweis sulking most days in his third-floor love nest overlooking a garbage-littered alley while his pal Spilotro is on trial for the torture murder of loan shark Leo Foreman and Weiner busies himself spending Teamsters Pension Fund loans on his plastics plant in Denning, N. M.

Someone has done Schweis dirt and he'd like to know who. Maybe after he reads this, he'll figure it out.

A double casualty not to be lamented

ON MAY 23, this column disclosed the Meat Block, a new $100,000 restaurant at 1311 N. Wells St., had been refused a city liquor license because of crime syndicate muscleman Frankie Schweih's apparent connections with the place.

Last Friday, they hung a "For Sale" sign on the Meat Block's front door. Score 2 for Glad Tidings Goomer.

Schweih's, a protege of the late mob triggerman Felix (Milwaukee Phil) Alderisio, apparently panicked when word came the city also was thinking of revoking a food license held by an older restaurant of the same name at 1321 N. Wells St.

That was the place whose liquor license the city had been asked to transfer to the new establishment until Schweih's involvement became known and the request was denied.

But when authorities demanded to see the Meat Block's books and records, Atty. Louis Carbonaro elected instead to surrender the liquor license. That effectively blocked officials from scrutinizing the records.

However, it left restaurant operator Michael Pierpaoli high and dry with no permit to sell booze legally at either location.

Further, when Schweih's first started supervising construction of the new restaurant, his plans reportedly entailed selling or leasing the older property and using the proceeds to launch the new venture.

Among persons approached with the proposition were a group operating a string of gay bars on the Near North Side. That deal got queered, too, when both locations ceased to be watering holes.

So now Schweih's is in an awful mess.

He had planned to have all the details of the restaurant opening tidied up before his gangland boss, Anthony Spilotro, came to town to view the premises while on trial for the torture murder of born shark Leo Foreman.

Meanwhile, Spilotro is having problems of his own.

First, the FBI handed him a subpoena calling for his appearance later this month before a federal grand jury probing Teamsters Union pension fund loans.

Now it has whacked him with another summons for records of the boutique he has operated in Las Vegas since being summoned there to straighten out mob gambling operations in Nevada several years ago.

The gift shop is on the Circus Casino premises, one of the emporiums favored with Teamsters loans thru the good graces of the now imprisoned Chicago millionaire insurance man Allen M. Dorfman.

Couple those circumstances with the murder trial and it is a bit much, even for a tough guy like Tony Spilotro.

ELSEWHERE on the saloon beat, there is more good news.

A bill designed to blunt the main weapon used by police extortionists preying on liquor store and tavern owners has been passed by the Illinois Senate and comes up for a hearing tomorrow before the House Registration and Regulations Committee.

If enacted into law, the bill would provide a legal defense for the liquor dealer threatened with license revocation after having accepted in good faith bogus identification offered by an under-age customer. The planting of minor patrons by corrupt police bent on shakedowns has repeatedly surfaced in the Justice Department probe of scandal in the Chicago Police Department.

A companion measure calling for inclusion of photographs on Illinois driver licenses as an added means of identification has passed the House and is awaiting final Senate action.

Both deserve passage as vital tools in the fight against uniformed shakedown artists.

DETAILS: AT CHICAGO, ILLINOIS.Residence

On August 6, 1973, October 26, 1973, and November 8, 1973, FRANK SCHWEIHS was observed entering the rear entrance of the premise at 1321 North Wells Street, Chicago, Illinois. FRANK SCHWEIHS is currently residing in the third floor rear apartment of this premise. Numerous spotchecks disclosed a 1973 Mercedes-Benz, four door sedan, bearing 1973 Illinois license PC 8652, registered to [REDACTED] 1321 North Wells Street, Chicago, Illinois, parked in the immediate vicinity of the premise. The above vehicle has been used by FRANK SCHWEIHS on a regular basis in the past.

Business Interests

On August 14, 1973, an article appeared in the "Chicago Tribune" entitled "Mob Linked Restaurant Hit By Fire" and disclosed that a fire destroyed the Meat Block Steak House, 1321 North Wells, Chicago, Illinois. This restaurant is operated by FRANK SCHWEIHS. The article related the hidden ownership of SCHWEIHS and his inability to obtain a liquor license for the restaurant because of his connections with the organized criminal element in Chicago. The following is a copy of the article:

Mob-linked restaurant hit by fire

FIRE EARLY yesterday caused an estimated $10,000 damage to the Meat Block, a restaurant valued at $100,000 at 1311 N. Wells St., whose operators were refused a city liquor license earlier this year because of alleged ties to the crime syndicate.

An arson investigation was ordered. Fire Capt. Daniel Nockles said the 2½-story restaurant building was engulfed in flames when the first firemen arrived on the scene.

Tribune columnist Robert Wiedrich reported June 4 that City Hall apparently decided not to issue a liquor license to Michael Pierpaoli, the license applicant, because of reports that a syndicate muscleman Frankis Schweibs was a hidden owner. Since the city's refusal, the place has been up for sale.

Schweibs is identified in Federal Bureau of Investigation files as a protege of the late mob triggerman Felix [Milwaukee Phil] Alderisio.

On August 15, 1973, a spotcheck at the Meat Block Steak House disclosed the restaurant and particularly the interior of the premise was entirely destroyed by fire. As previously reported, SCHWEIHS attempted to open up a new steak house under the same trade name at 1311 North Wells, Chicago. The subject was unable to open the new restaurant as a result of the fact that he was denied a liquor license by the City of Chicago. Since that time, SCHWEIHS has been unable to sell or lease the old steak house at 1321 North Wells, Chicago.

On August 15, 1973, Officer [redacted] Chicago Police Department, Chicago, Illinois, advised that he was of the opinion the Meat Block Steak House was destroyed, possibly by FRANK SCHWEIHS, because he, SCHWEIHS, was unable to sell or lease the steak house. [redacted] made available insurance documents which disclose the premise was insured for approximately $80,000 ($60,000 for the building and $20,000 for the contents). He said it would be interesting to note whether or not the contents of the building were removed before the fire started. [redacted] advised that SCHWEIHS has obtained insurance for the premise through [redacted] Associates, 2 Salt Creek Lane, Hinsdale, Illinois, and stated that [redacted] reportedly knows the subject.

On August 15, 1973, Officers [redacted] and [redacted] Chicago Police Department, [redacted] Unit, Chicago, Illinois, appeared in the Chicago Division and advised SA [redacted] that they are currently conducting an arson investigation into the fire which destroyed the Meat Block Steak House on August 13, 1973. [redacted] stated that their investigation has determined that arson was the cause of the fire. They said that two separate fires were started within the premise and a highly volatile and combustible substance such as gasoline was used. [redacted] stated that based on "burn marks" they have determined that one fire was started at the north-east end of the bar and the other was started at the southeast end of the waiting room in the ceiling. [redacted] were questioned as to whether or not it appeared that the contents of the restaurant were removed prior to the fire. They said based on their investigation, it seemed as though the restaurant was "swept clean" prior to the fire and the only things that were left in the place were a few red benches. [redacted] said that since arson has been identified as the cause of the fire, they would recommend to the insurance company that no money is paid in connection with this fire.

It should be noted that the Chicago Division notified the Bomb and Arson Unit of the Chicago Police Department of the circumstances surrounding the operation and management of the Meat Block Steak House.

On September 18, 1973, Officer [redacted] [redacted] Chicago Police Department, Chicago, Illinois, appeared in the Chicago Office of the Federal Bureau of Investigation (FBI) and advised that as a result of information furnished by the Chicago Division, an extensive subterfuge investigation has positively identified hoodlum figure FRANK SCHWEIHS as the real boss and owner of the Meat Block Steak House. [redacted] said his investigation has uncovered at least five separate violations of the Subterfuge Ordinances of the City of Chicago. [redacted] said the Meat Block Steak House is estimated to be valued at $75,000 to $100,000 and the investigation has resulted in the complete disruption of FRANK SCHWEIHS' business. In addition, [redacted] advised the Meat Block Steak House was insured for approximately $80,000 and he was of the opinion that SCHWEIHS was responsible for the fire. [redacted] said he felt certain that SCHWEIHS would be unable to collect any of the insurance money.

On December 6, 1973, Officer [redacted] advised that he recently received information to the effect that [redacted] the Meat Block Steak House, [redacted] the steak house located at 1311 North Wells, Chicago, Illinois. [redacted] said that based on previous investigation, FRANK SCHWEIHS would be unable to obtain a new liquor license for the premise. [redacted] said that stops have been placed with the Licensing Unit of the Chicago Police Department and any application for the steak house will be disapproved.

Associates

On October 17, 1973, CG T-1 advised that on October 4, 1973, at approximately 10:45 a.m., two unknown white males were observed being taken on a tour of the buildings and parking lot area of the Meat Block Steak House by FRANK SCHWEIHS and hoodlum [redacted]. CG T-1 advised the two unknown white males arrived and left in a 1969 Oldsmobile bearing 1973 Illinois license FB 999, registered to [redacted] Illinois. CG T-1 speculated that this meeting could pertain to the alleged sale of the Meat Block Steak House property by FRANK SCHWEIHS.

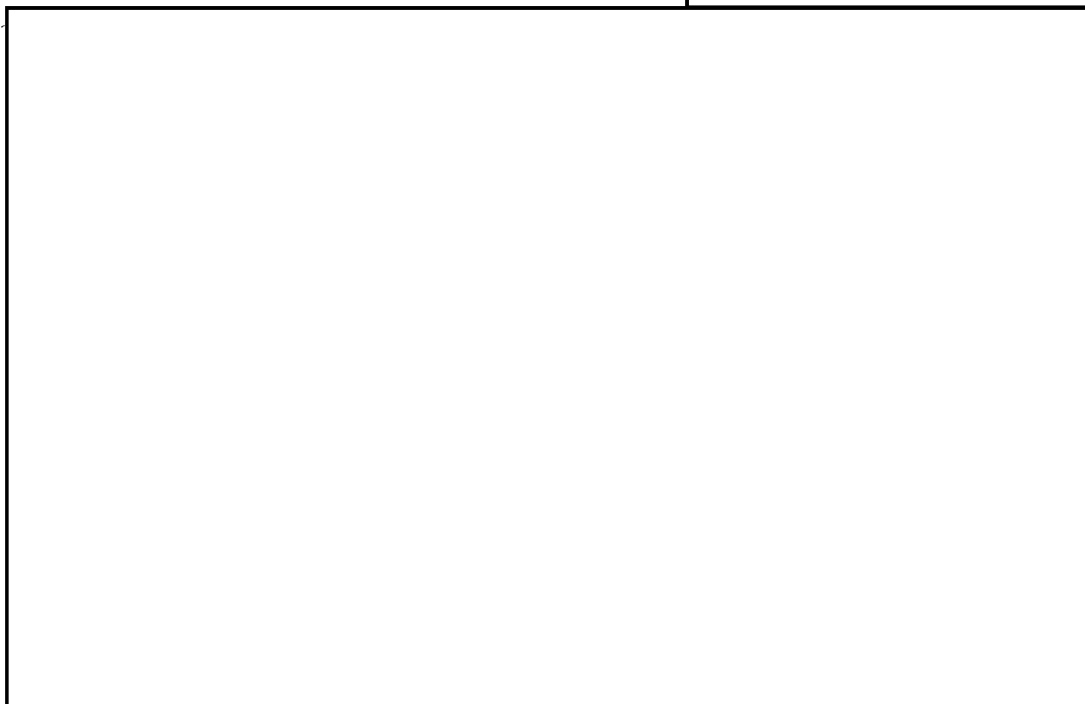

On October 26, 1973, [redacted] Illinois, was contacted by SAs [redacted]

CG 92-3665

[redacted] and interviewed concerning his association with FRANK SCHWEIHS. [redacted] stated that he was formerly employed as [redacted] MIKE FISH's Restaurant, 160 East Ontario, Chicago, Illinois. According to [redacted] the restaurant is one [redacted] and he [redacted] reportedly was [redacted] said an individual named [redacted] is a customer at the restaurant and offered to introduce both [redacted] to FRANK SCHWEIHS. [redacted] said that FRANK SCHWEIHS offered to lease his restaurant at 1311 North Wells for a monthly rental of approximately $1,500. According to [redacted] SCHWEIHS was having some kind of problems opening the restaurant and it was for this reason that he wanted to lease the property. [redacted] said that [redacted] intended to lease the property but recently changed his mind when [redacted]

It is to be noted that MICK FISH's Restaurant at 160 East Ontario, Chicago, has reportedly been used as a meeting place for Chicago hoodlum figures in the past.

The following is a description of [redacted]

On November 13, 1973, Officer [redacted] Unit, Chicago Police Department, Chicago, Illinois, positively identified photographs of [redacted] and [redacted] as close associates of FRANK SCHWEIHS. [redacted] characterized [redacted] as a well known Chicago burglar who is reported to be one of the best lock and safe men in the Chicago area. [redacted] said that [redacted] was formerly employed by SCHWEIHS [redacted] the Meat Block Steak House. In addition, [redacted] identified [redacted] as a close friend of FRANK SCHWEIHS.

CG T-1 said he has observed this vehicle on a regular basis parked in the immediate vicinity of 1321 North Wells Street, Chicago, Illinois.

CG 92-3665

On March 21, 1974, a review of the records of the Secretary of State, Motor Vehicle Division, Springfield, Illinois, disclosed that 1974 Illinois license 837494 is registered on a 1973 Mercedes-Benz four door sedan, to one [redacted] Illinois.

The records reflected the following descriptive data concerning [redacted]

Business Interests

On December 18, 1973, Officer [redacted] [redacted] Chicago Police Department, Chicago, Illinois, advised that an appeal hearing has been scheduled for December 21, 1973, at 9:15 a.m., before the City of Chicago Liquor Commission, City Hall, Room 207, Chicago, Illinois, concerning the licensing of the Meat Block Steak House. [redacted] said the City of Chicago has denied a liquor license for the premise and [redacted] has elected to appeal this denial before the City of Chicago Liquor Commission. [redacted] characterized [redacted] as a front in the operation of the Meat Block Steak House and said that FRANK SCHWEIHS is the real owner of the business. [redacted] advised that Chicago [redacted] is no longer representing the Meat Block Steak House in this matter and [redacted] has recently hired hoodlum [redacted] to handle the matter.

On December 21, 1973, SA [redacted] was present in Room 207 of City Hall during the appeal hearing. CG 92-3665

[redacted] testified that NORA SCHWEIHS, the mother of the subject, formerly owned the property at 1311 North Wells.

SA [redacted] advised that one [redacted] Assistant Corporation Council, represented the City of Chicago in this matter.

On January 2, 1974, [redacted] Assistant Corporation Council, City of Chicago, Chicago telephone [redacted] advised SA [redacted] that the issue concerning the licensing of the Meat Block Steak House has been taken under advisement by the City of Chicago Liquor Commission. [redacted] advised that the City of Chicago has a "good subterfuge case" against the Meat Block Steak House and will advise the Chicago Office of the FBI of any further developments.

On February 11, 1974, [redacted] City of Chicago, advised on or about February 1, 1974, the City of Chicago Liquor Commission upheld denial of a liquor license for the Meat Block Steak House on the grounds that the business was in fact a subterfuge for hoodlum figure FRANK SCHWEIHS.

Based on information furnished by Chicago Division, this denial has completely disrupted SCHWEIHS' attempt to open a steak house in Chicago valued in excess of $75,000.

Travel

Current Activities and Associates

At Chicago, Illinois

On January 22, 1975, CG T-1 positively identified photos of hoodlum figures JOHN FECAROTTA, JOSEPH LOMBARDO, ANTHONY SPILOTRO, [REDACTED]

[REDACTED] as associates of FRANK SCHWEIHS. CG T-1 indicated he has personally observed the above individuals in the company of FRANK SCHWEIHS during the latter part of 1974 and early part of 1975.

On May 2, 1975, CG T-3 was specifically contacted by SA [REDACTED] concerning the status of FRANK SCHWEIHS within the Chicago LCN group. CG T-3 characterized FRANK SCHWEIHS together with ANTHONY SPILOTRO and JOEY LOMBARDO as "hit men" for the organized criminal element in Chicago.

In regard to the above information, it should be noted that other sources previously contacted concerning FRANK SCHWEIHS have also characterized him in this fashion.

At Fort Lauderdale, Florida

By communications dated May 5 and May 13, 1975, the Miami Division advised that FRANK SCHWEIHS was arrested by the Fort Lauderdale Police Department, May 4, 1975, at 11:45 PM and charged with Possession of Burglary Tools, Attempted Breaking and Entering, Operating a Motor Vehicle with No Identification Number, and Tapping Telephone Lines. SCHWEIHS, accompanied by another unknown individual, attempted to burglarize the Wells Fargo Office, Fort Lauderdale, Florida, where it was later learned that the company had on hand two million dollars worth of food stamps and one million dollars in cash. The subject was subsequently released on $370.00 on May 5, 1975, by posting $370.00 in cash with the AAA Bonding Agency, Fort Lauderdale, Florida. Contact with Fort Lauderdale Police Department determined that SCHWEIHS used a truck registered to Executive Paint and Body, 701 South Federal Highway, Dania, Florida, during the attempted commission of the crime. Subsequent inquiry determined the truck to be registered to [REDACTED]

[REDACTED] Fort Lauderdale, Florida. The Fort Lauderdale Police Department advised it was unable to identify the accomplice of the subject.

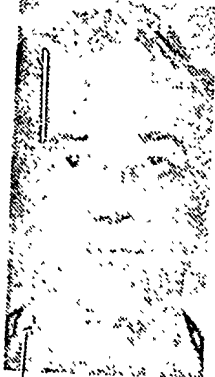

Publicity

The following publicity concerning the attempted burglary by FRANK SCHWEIHS in Fort Lauderdale, Florida, appeared in a Chicago area newspaper on May 11, 1975:

Foiling a Purolator replay in Lauderdale

FBI AGENTS and police in Fort Lauderdale, Fla., are hunting a Chicago superburglar, Tony Panzica, as the master mind of an attempted Florida replay of the $4.3 million Purolator heist. A second Chicago crime syndicate hoodlum, Frank J. Schweihs, was seized last week in the daring—but unsuccessful—effort to loot the Wells Fargo Armored Car Service office in Fort Lauderdale. The wanted man, believed to be Panzica, escaped in the darkness in a pickup truck that was to have been used to haul the money away. Panzica is one of the nation's most talented burglars as well as an electronics specialist. Investigators say the burglar alarm at the Wells Fargo office had been neutralized by just such a sophisticated thief. Schweihs, a syndicate hit man and onetime bodyguard for the late Felix (Milwaukee Phil) Alderiso, was surprised and captured at the Wells Fargo Office by two gun-carrying owners of a nearby auto repair shop that had been burglarized previously. The Wells Fargo people aren't saying if the take from a successful "score" would have approached the Purolator loss. But it is noteworthy that the firm stores money from businesses in more than 30 cities in affluent Broward County.

BACKGROUND: Both Schweihs and Panzica started in their illicit craft as members of a hubcap-stealing ring in the "Patch," an area near 26th and Wallace. Among their colleagues in that ring were Peter Gushi and Pasquale Marzano, two of the stalwarts already convicted in the Purolator case.

Current Activities

AT FT. LAUDERDALE, FLORIDA

As previously reported, the Miami Division advised that FRANK SCHWEIHS was arrested by the Ft. Lauderdale Police Department on May 4, 1975, attempting to burglarize the Wells Fargo Office, Ft. Lauderdale, Florida. It was later learned that the company had on hand approximately two million dollars worth of food stamps and one million dollars in cash.

The Miami Division furnished the following information concerning the disposition of local charges against FRANK SCHWEIHS:

[redacted] Municipal Court, Ft. Lauderdale, Florida, advised that his records disclose that SCHWEIHS was fined $202.00 in connection with the local charges imposed upon him. The fine was paid by his attorney's office on August 26, 1975. According to [redacted] the charges against SCHWEIHS are fully adjudicated.

Associates

AT MIAMI, FLORIDA

By communication dated September 29, 1975, the Miami Division was furnished the following information:

On September 24, 1975, CG T-1 advised he recently learned FRANK SCHWEIHS was boasting about "beating the rap" at Florida. CG T-1 stated that he learned that SCHWEIHS frequented [redacted] Restaurant and Bar in Miami, Florida. This establishment was described by CG T-1 as a well known hoodlum hangout in the Miami area and at the time. SCHWEIHS was allegedly observed in the company of [redacted] and two other "tough looking" guys who were not further identified. CG T-1 said he heard that SCHWEIHS, [redacted] and [redacted] associates planned to remain in Miami and allegedly these individuals were "hungry" and looking for a "score".

It is to be noted that [redacted] was recently arrested in the Chicago area for the attempted burglary of a jewelry store in which a "black box" was used to circumvent the alarm system.

The attention of the Miami Division is directed to Chicago airtel to Director captioned, [redacted] ET AL; ITSP - MT SUSPECTS, OO: CHICAGO" for further details. At time of arrest [redacted] furnished his residence as [redacted] Florida.

Business Interests

AT CHICAGO, ILLINOIS

With regard to the subject's business interests and associates, previous investigation disclosed that FRANK SCHWEIHS formerly operated the Meat Block Restaurant, 1321 North Wells, Chicago, Illinois, as a "hidden owner" and when the subject attempted to expand the business into a more elaborate restaurant at 1311 North Wells, Chicago, the subterfuge unit of the Chicago Police Department conducted an investigation which ultimately resulted in the denial of a liquor license for the restaurant and the complete disruption of the subject's business. The Meat Block Restaurant was [redacted]

[redacted] FRANK SCHWEIHS. Upon denial of the liquor license, SCHWEIHS was unable to sell or lease the new building at 1311 North Wells, Chicago, with considerable loss in revenue. In addition, SCHWEIHS was forced to remodel the building at 1321 North Wells Street, Chicago, which was destroyed by fire under very suspicious circumstances following the liquor license denial. SCHWEIHS subsequently opened a business known as the Old Town Cycle Shop and the subject's daughter was believed to handle the day-to-day operation of the cycle business. The business was primarily involved in the sale of expensive imported Italian bicycles.

Recent observation conducted during the period of September 30 through October 24, 1975, in the immediate vicinity of the aforementioned location, disclose that the Old Town Cycle Shop has apparently gone out of business and the subject is attempting to sell the buildings located at both 1311 and 1312 North Wells Street. Observations disclose the presence of a sign with inscription "For Sale-2 buildings by appointment only call CE 6-4722". A check of public source records disclose [redacted]

On October 29, 1975, CG T-2 advised that during the week of October 20 through October 24, 1975, he observed SCHWEIHS and another individual loading equipment and boxes into a trailer that was parked in the immediate vicinity of the Old Town Cycle Shop. CG T-1 said he heard SCHWEIHS is attempting to sell the building, wherein he had operated a bike shop, however, the building has remained vacant for several months. With the recent activity of moving equipment from the building, CG T-2 indicated SCHWEIHS may have found a purchaser for the building.
